

WE HAVE NO AXES.
Chicago Inter-Ocean.—The only idea of a grinning monopoly about the Knights of Labor is the axes the leaders want to grind.

WHERE THE VICTORY LIES.
Philadelphia Inquirer.—One of the sisters of the Midnight Band of Cat-killers in New York has been convicted of giving chloroform to vagrant cats. This is a great legal victory for the fence cat.

SYMPATHY, LIKE THE WHEEL, GOES ROUND.

Chicago News.—Inventor Ferris says he lost money on his big wheel. The man with a large family who did the same thing can sympathize with him.

WE HAVE NONE TO MAKE PEACE.
Ashland News.—The Thanksgiving turkey had better make his peace with the rest of the flock, for his life is measured by the span of two weeks.

LARGE AND TIMELY TRUTH.
Cincinnati Times Star.—The whole-some effect of retribution is being lost in the delay of the trial of the assassin, Prendergrast. Miscreants of his kind should not be allowed time to pose as heroes.

A WORLD-WIDE DISTINCTION.
Rockester Post-Express.—The young man who writes love-letters to Helen Gould is called a crank, but the young man who succeeds in marrying her will be regarded, as one of the greatest financiers of the age.

ONE FOR THE TURK.

New York Times.—One of the stories that drifted out of the Painsance is of the mosque where prayers were said daily at regular intervals for the natives. A pious woman passing accosted a young Oriental and chattered with him, finishing with a nod toward his prayer house and the remark, "I hope you go to church every Sunday, like a Christian." "No," was the reply. "I go every day, like a Turk"—which must score one for the heathen.

UNDER THE MONROE DOCTRINE.

Minneapolis Tribune.—Should European vessels land their forces and interfere in the affairs of Brazil, there is no escape from the conclusion that such act would constitute a cause of offense to the United States Government. Under the light of the Monroe doctrine the Administration can construe such acts as nothing less than an offense. If Europe can without let or hindrance land troops in Brazil and menace the security of that Republic, Europe can do likewise in every American Republic.

THE SYMBOL OF THE SINGLE TAXERS.

St. Louis Post-Dispatch.—Congressman (then Judge) Maguire of California, in the course of a speech on the single tax idea, said the acceptance of Henry George's philosophy was always gradual. One who was falling under its spell looked upon it at first as absurd, but as one who studying a puzzle landscape found first a tail, then a back, then ears and then in a flash the entire cat, he passed through stages of argument which ended certainly in his acceptance of the single tax as a cure for poverty. This illustration caught the fancy of single taxers and they have been devoted to the cat ever since.

FROM DAY TO DAY.

Cincinnati Enquirer.—As you move East or West the solar time varies four minutes to each degree (say sixty miles in our latitude.) It is four minutes faster, each degree, as you go East, and four minutes slower each degree as you go West.

Readers of Jules Verne's "Around the World in Eighty Days" will recall that, traveling Eastward around the globe Phineas Fogg gained twenty-four hours in the transit.

This matter long distressed the merchant mariner of the various great powers until, finally, an artificial line was established in the Pacific Ocean when the day should change. Passing it going West it at once becomes a day later. Passing it going East it becomes a day earlier.

This fact has been curiously illustrated during the last few days in the news from Hawaii, brought by the steamer China. In the dispatches sent from San Francisco upon the arrival of the steamer there were details of what happened in Honolulu on "Saturday, November 5th," on "Sunday, November 6th," and on "Monday and Tuesday, November 7th and 8th."

Now, we all know that Saturday, Sunday, Monday and Tuesday were respectively, in this locality, the 4th, 5th, 6th and 7th days of the month, and it was at first supposed that the dispatches were careless in their presentment of dates.

But they were not.
The Hawaiian Islands are to the West of the imaginary line above described and when it is November 4th here it is November 5th there, &c. It is one of the most interesting illustrations of this imaginary line that has been brought to book for many a day.

CASIANCA CLEVELAND.

Grover stood on the Free-trade deck, whence all but him had fled; His silver bill around his neck, And votes in his head.

Not beautiful, he stubborn stood, And sought to rule the storm; A creature of the Mugwump's word, Though Democrat in form.

His party called, he would not go Without the Mugwump's word, The winds through Peter's whiskers blow, But Grover never heard.

He called aloud, "Say, Gresham, say, If yet my task be done— Protection have we busted up, Free-trade for England won?"

"Speak, Cockrell!" once again he cried, "Oh, let me hear from West," But bland declared, "The ways divide," And he was going West.

Champ Clark was writing up a speech About that "Western man," And Alford was prepared to teach The new Anarchist plan.

Maynard was studying how to steal For Hill another piece; New Jersey Democrats appeal For winter gambling race.

Lochen was busy writing names Of pensioners refused, And Bissell playing at the games Of Postmasters abused.

Gresham was working at his best, A project low and mean, To crush Republics in the West And seat a negro queen.

Olney was busy to his eyes, And thought the party "bust," He thought it suited to his size To hold another trust.

The "Tiger" in his New York lair Was up to other fun; The banks and brokers well must fare, Said Dana and his Sun.

The Bay State Democrats appeared To be in awful need, The logic of events they feared, And that of Thomas Reed.

While from Iowa came a cry, A sad, heart-breaking noise, "Come up and help us ere we die, Or Jackson'll wallop Boise."

The unemployed on every hand Were crying, "Give us bread; Your Free-trade talk has wrecked the land And killed industry dead."

On Grover's brow he felt their breath, But on the Free-trade deck, McKinley bombs were firing round, And set his stubborn neck.

He shouted but once more aloud, "Look at the Green if Am, Free-trade or bust shall be my shroud, McKinley is a clam!"

The ballots soon were flying wild; Protection's tide was high, The ballot boxes soon were piled, "Down with Free-trade!" they cry.

Then came a burst of thunder sound, A loud Protection peal, McKinley bombs were firing round, And killed poor Larry Neal.

Boise, Maynard, Russell, where are they? And Cleveland, where is he? Ask of the winds that far away With fragments strewed the sea.

With tigers, oranks and Brigadiers, The Free-trade college dude And Grover at the last appears, In innocuous desuetude.

The first gray hair should be a warning That the scalp needs the strengthening applications of Ayer's Hair Vigor. Don't delay.

J. P. BLAIZE, an extensive real estate dealer in Des Moines, Iowa, narrowly escaped one of the severest attacks of pneumonia while in the Northern part of that state during a recent blizzard, says The Saturday Review. Mr. Blaize had occasion to drive several miles during the storm and was so thoroughly chilled that he was unable to get warm, and inside of an hour after his return he was threatened with a severe case of pneumonia or lung fever. Mr. Blaize went to the nearest drugstore and got a bottle of Chamberlain's Cough Remedy, of which he had often heard, and took a number of large doses. He says the effect was wonderful and in a short time he was breathing quite easily. He kept on taking the medicine and the next day he was able to come to Des Moines. Mr. Blaize regards his cure as simply wonderful. For sale by Power & Reynolds, Druggists.

HAVE you taken a cold? You can cure it promptly with Ayer's Cherry Pectoral. The safest remedy for throat and lung troubles.

COVINGTON celebrated Sunday in royal style. There were two murders down there, and we don't know what the city and community at large is better off by having such citizens put out of the way.

At Dixie, ten miles from Henderson, a boiler in a sawmill exploded, instantly killing the engineer, Harvey Minton, and his brother. There wasn't a thing the matter with the boiler or the engineer, of course!

The books of the Limestone Building Association are now open for subscription to the Ninth Series of stock. Call on H. C. Sharp, Secretary; James Threlkeld, Treasurer; C. D. Newell, Solicitor, or any of the Directors.

EDWARD CURTIS, a most estimable young man of Lexington, while assisting the police to make an arrest at a tough negro dance Sunday, was shot and instantly killed. The next thing we hear will be another race war!

BARGAINS in Sterling Silver Spoons at Murphy's the Jeweler. Sterling Silver Tea Spoons $5 and $6 in fancy patterns. The best value ever offered for the money. These prices are made to reduce a very large stock. Successor to Hopper & Murphy.

CHARLES CADY, one of the best known and highly esteemed gentlemen of this city, is today celebrating his 45th anniversary, and he is yet a young man, being sprightly and very active. On this day forty-five years ago Mr. Cady informs us that it was snowing and cold, and to-day it is raining and now clearing—quite a contrast. His many friends wish him and his good wife many returns of the wedding day.

MRS. PRESLEY HUGHES, an aged colored lady, who lives about two miles from Ripley, and her stepson, George Hughes, were returning home from town, when their horse became frightened and commenced to kick and run. The dashboard was kicked off, and Mrs. Hughes either fell or tried to jump out of the buggy, and in so doing fell between the wheels. Her head struck and her neck was broken. She was picked up and taken to her home.

A CHEAP CART.
Not One for a Cent, But Almost at That Enormous Figure.

Last week a firm, doing business in this city, had for sale, among other things, a very nice sulky cart.

But yesterday morning they awoke to find they didn't have a very fine sulky cart.

And an examination of the books revealed the fact that none had been sold.

And both the members of the firm swore they had not given it away.

So they came to the natural conclusion that the aforesaid cart had stuck to somebody's fingers.

But who that somebody was worried them considerably.

After putting their heads together and thinking a few thunks, they came to the conclusion that the best and only thing to do was to hunt Captain Fitzgerald.

Accordingly the genial Captain was telephoned for and he went down on a double-quick schedule.

Then it was that he learned of the sudden departure of the much coveted and aforesaid cart.

After getting a description of his cart he started out to do some thinking and finding.

His suspicions at once fell upon one of the "daisies," one Joseph Bode by name and doing nothing by profession, he being a member of the Ancient Order of Free and Easy Resting Men.

After doing a little quiet work around, he finally learned that Darius Moran was seen to give "Mr." Bode some money.

And the Captain wasn't long in finding out what the money was for.

He procured a horse and buggy, and with Officer Downey as his escort, went to see Mr. Moran.

And then there it was learned that he had bought a cart from "Mr." Bode for the enormous and outrageous price of $3 50.

And he also found the cart that Mr. Moran had spent all this money for was the cart he was looking for.

So the Captain ties Mr. Cart on to the buggy and the process proceeded to Maysville.

After turning it over to the firm he then directed his artillery toward "Mr." Bode.

He found that "gentleman" out recreating back of Aberdeen.

The Captain then sent Officers Mangan and Medina to meet him and greet him as policemen generally do—with a warrant for his arrest.

Jode was taken before "Squire Grant and held over in the sum of $200 for his appearance to-morrow.

And we predict that Jode will take a ride and pay a visit to the comrades at Frankfort.

There isn't a single excuse we can find in our great law book for a man to carry on in this manner.

There is an honest living on this earth for every man, and when we look around and see so many men who are deliberately throwing themselves away we have to shudder.

But then we don't all see things alike.

WHEN on a visit to Iowa, K. Dalton of Luray, Russell county, Kans., called at the laboratory of Chamberlain & Co., Des Moines, to show them his six-year-old boy, whose life had been saved by Chamberlain's Cough Remedy, it having cured him of a very severe attack of croup. Mr. Dalton is certain that it saved his life and is enthusiastic in his praise of the remedy. For sale by Power & Reynolds, Druggists.

It will not be long until the merchants and everyone else who wants to employ young men will seek this institution.

A DIZZY SPELL
Causes Colonel Richard Dawson to Sustain a Severe Fall.

Yesterday afternoon as Colonel Richard Dawson was going through the billiard-room at the Central Hotel he suddenly became dizzy and fell, striking his head on the corner of one of the billiard-tables, sustaining several severe bruises.

This is the first one of these spells the well-known Colonel has ever experienced, so far as we can learn, and his many friends hope it will be the last one.

The citizens of our city will be pained to learn of his mishap, and only hope that it will prove nothing more than a few bruises.

He is one of the best known gentlemen of our city, and the mere thought of the accident being a serious one would cause many a sad heart in this section.

The Colonel was able to be down to breakfast this morning, and we are pleased to note that his injuries were only several slight bruises.

LISTEN TO THIS.

Here's Something That Will Interest Everybody.

In conversation with one of the intelligent salesmen at Hechlinger & Co.'s establishment, he said: "You would be surprised could you stay here to see the number of swell dressers who come here to look at and buy our goods. Not only our county people, but many from Bourbon, Nicholas, Fleming and across the river counties."

"Bankers, merchants, artists, tip-toppers in the matter of clothes, come in and are very critical in their examination. After they try them on and see how well we can fit them, the price becomes a revelation to them. We scarcely ever lose a customer that is a judge of values. We sincerely believe that our Mr. Hechlinger has been an educator to people in the matter of buying their clothing. Our line this fall comprises styles and qualities that are bought by people who never before even dreamed of buying ready-made clothes, and you once let the idea get abroad that a man can save from $10 to $25 on a suit or overcoat, and yet present a stylish appearance, you will not wonder at the big trade our house has and the class of clothing."

"There is another point about ready-made clothing that we have gained the attention of good dressers, and that is a full line of Dress Suits, long frock coats and the long Poole and Munster overcoat. These garments are made with an attention to detail in the manner of trimmings, lapels cut, that makes it impossible to tell them from the same garments made 'to order.' By the way, our concern has added a new department. We have just got in an elegant variety of Dressing Gowns and Smoking Jackets. You know they will be wanted for Christmas gifts. Hereafter, folks were obliged to buy them in Cincinnati. We have quite a lot of them and can save our customers fully 25 per cent. on them."

ILLINOIS, KENTUCKY.

From Olive Hill, Ky., Mrs. M. J. Matney writes May 13th, 1892: "My daughter has been afflicted with erysipelas in her eyes from infancy. She is now just 12 years old and one 25-cent box has cured her."

THE funeral of Mrs. John Cole, who died Sunday morning at her home near Shannon, occurred yesterday afternoon, and she was buried in the Shannon Cemetery. She was about 35 years old, and a most estimable lady.

THERE are a great many strange-looking diamonds on the streets this morning. It may be that some one has gone to the World's Fair and "tuck" in the Midway Plaisance, got loaded with the fake jewelry and worked it off on the boys around here. He evidently had an eye to business.

GOOD CITIZEN GONE.

John Haggerty of Tuckahoe Passes Away Saturday.

John Haggerty, one of the best-known farmers in this vicinity, died at the home of his son Saturday night, aged about 78 years.

Mr. Haggerty was born in the county Derry, near Londonderry, Ireland, and came to this country forty-five years ago. He has been living on the farm of Mr. Terhune, near Tuckahoe, for thirty-five years. Mr. Haggerty left three children, two boys—James and Matthew—and one daughter, Katie.

His wife has been dead twenty-eight years. He was a charter member of the St. Patrick Benevolent Society of this city, and was buried under the auspices of that society at Washington yesterday afternoon.

REMARKABLE EQUESTRIENNE.

Mrs. Fannie Million, Aged 90, Rides Horseback Like a Girl.

Mrs. Fannie Million, who resides at Million, in the Western part of Madison county, is perhaps the oldest lady horseback rider in the United States. She is 90 years of age. Recently she rode a distance of ten miles on horseback to visit some relatives.

She owns and rides a horse as remarkable as herself. It is 20 years old, and named for General Kirby Smith, the old Confederate General.

Mrs. Million has never used spectacles in her life, her eyesight at present being as good as it was when she was 16.

She is not stooped and decrepit, but as erect as an Indian. She is strong physically and mentally, and could dance a set with ease.

The Rileys Last Night.

Last night was the opening of the famous Rileys for a week's engagement at the Opera-house, and certainly Manager Kinneman deserves great credit for booking such an all-round, all-star company. They opened with "Cyril's Dream," and it was produced in excellent style. They deserve a packed house and the prices are low enough to let everyone see the show the entire week without missing the "glue."

To-night will be presented the greatest of all plays, "Queen," and those who miss it will miss a rare treat. Go see the Rileys without fail.

ACROSS THE RIVER.

Tribute of the Venerable Dan Spalding to Mrs. Ann Shackelford.

LOUISVILLE, November 11th, 1893.

Thomas A. Davis, Esq., Maysville—My Old Friend: I see by THE LEDGER that one more of my early friends has crossed the dark river—Mrs. Ann Shackelford. We were intimately acquainted from childhood to old age. She was one of the kindest hearted little girls I ever knew, and when grown to mature years she lost none of her loveliness. When I look back to the playmates of my young days how lonely I feel. Few, very few, left. They have all "crossed over" and I left almost alone.

"My days are gliding swiftly by, And I, a pilgrim stranger, Would not detain them as they fly. Those hours of toil and danger, For O, we stand on Jordan's strand, Our friends are passing over, And just before the shining shore We may almost discover."

The children and grandchildren of that Christian woman have my heartfelt sympathy. May they be spared to be shining lights in their day and generation.

My late visit to the home of my youth was so short that I met but few of my old friends. Hoping that I may be spared to make many more pleasant visits to my old home and at last be permitted to strike hands on the banks of eternal deliverance with all those who have gone before, is the prayer of yours truly, D. SPALDING.

THE TARIFF BILL

The Measure Nearly Ready for the Full Committee.

Wilson's Ideas Follow Very Closely the Chicago Platform.

A Tariff for Protection Fosses Unconstitutional—Free Iron and Coal—Heavy Slash in Steel and Glass—The Sugar Bounty Also to Be Abolished.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 21.—Before the sub-committee of ways and means committee having in charge the schedules of the tariff bill adjourn Monday afternoon from their little dark lantern room at the capitol they will have put into shape the new tariff bill. Chairman Wilson has sent out word to a number of personal friends who called to see him, among them three or four interested persons from New York, that he can not see any one Monday, as the last touches are being placed upon the measure, which has been keeping him busy for three months.

The bill will be somewhat revised by the full democratic membership of the committee on ways and means before it will be laid before the entire committee the first of next week, but it may be stated that it will have few material changes from its present figures. The Wilson tariff bill will fairly represent the pledges of the Chicago platform.

It will recognize the assertion that a tariff for protective purposes is unconstitutional and will levy duties only for revenue. The bill will make what might well be termed a "slashing cut." The aim has been, as far as possible, to make horizontal reductions. Where labor has most largely entered into the product the reduction has been less than where capital has been the consideration.

Glass and steel receive the deepest cuts. Blown glass is reduced about one-half, but plate glass is reduced about fifteen per cent. only. Steel rails are heavily cut, and the duties are made ad valorem instead of specific. The many additions to the free list are well known. The principal ones being wool, iron ore, copper, silver, lead ore, salt, lumber, coal and pig iron. As the bill now stands, the bounty on sugar is abolished. It will probably emerge from the committee without any duty being placed upon raw sugar. It is understood, however, that the senate will be expected to place a duty of one cent a pound on raw sugar. The committee have practically abandoned the idea of increasing the tax on malt liquors or whisky. It will leave that as a separate matter. Manufacturers and dealers can make up their minds to see a most extreme tariff bill when this measure is next week given to the public. It is the most sweeping sweep in the direction of free trade that has been proposed by the democratic party. The publication of the bill should not, however, excite commercial interests, as there is a well matured understanding that while the bill will go through the house in much the same form in which it will be reported to that body, the senate will make radical modifications.

The house bill is to be the party measure, and will be pointed to as the embodiment of the Chicago platform pledges. It will be so liberal that democrats in protection districts will be given an opportunity to save themselves by the introduction of amendments which will be adopted, and then the senate will make certain amendments intended to protect those democratic senators who feel that they can not afford to support the extreme reductions made by the house bill. It is stated that the tariff bill as it will go to the house will affect only import duties, that the internal revenue features and the proposition to levy an income tax will be submitted to the house apart from the tariff bill proper, and that they will come up on their individual merits. There may be a caucus upon one or the other propositions, but it is understood that the tariff bill and an income and internal revenue tax will not be caucused in connection with the tariff bill proper.

A Twenty Years' Courtship.

VALLEY VIEW, Ky., Nov. 21.—A long and romantic attachment resulted in a happy union at Silom, two miles west of here, when Bart Land, a farmer bachelor, and Miss Sue Newby, a sprightly maiden lady, were made husband and wife. Their fathers adjourn, and their courtship has extended over a period of nearly 20 years. He is 50 years old and she 28.

Gen. Rusk May Recover.

VIROQUA, Wis., Nov. 21.—Gen. Rusk's case has assumed a much more hopeful outlook in the past twenty-four hours. He slept well Saturday night without the aid of opiates and rested well Sunday. His physicians are now quite
